

BRIAN J. EAGAN

Associated Roofers Inc. is a $6 million roofing company serving the entire Los Angeles area. It has recently entered into a joint-venture licensing agreement and has just opened a second office in West Los Angeles. Expansion plans include two more offices later this year with five more in 1999. The company specializes primarily in residential roofing, but has also aggressively taken a piece of the commercial roofing market, in addition to an impressive list of new construction projects to its reference list.

Tony Drockton founded Associated Roofers in 1992 and Brian came on board two years later. Together, they have formed one of the largest residential roofing companies in Southern California. The company has been growing at the rate of about $1 million a year and has been highlighted across the country in numerous trade publications. It was featured in a franchising article on the cover of Success Magazine last year. It was recently named as the fastest growing roofing company on the West Coast by GAF, the world's largest roofing material manufacturer.

Brian was born in Seattle, WA, and raised in Omaha, NE. He graduated from Arizona State University in 1989 and then moved to San Francisco to pursue work in the legal profession, with intentions of going on to law school.

Gaining too much experience with the law and its propensity for negativity, he lost his ambition for a career in law and moved to Los Angeles. He went to work for Dun & Bradstreet in advertising, where he met his current business partner.

Brian is single and living on a houseboat in Marina Del Rey. In his spare time, he has forayed into the entertainment industry. He was executive producer for a full-length feature film entitled Circles, starring Antonio Sabado, Jr. and Neil McDonough. Circles won the coveted Maverick Award at the Newport Beach Film Festival and is currently being screened at the Cannes Film Festival in France. His next movie is in pre-production and will begin filming later this year.

Defcon Incorporated
20795 S Main St, Carson, CA 90745, 310-516-8400 Fax 310-516-1942
briane@associatedroofing.com