

JOAN HAYNES

Joan Haynes, a native of Chicago, Illinois attended Roosevelt University and pursued a successful modeling career in New York City.

Immediately, she signed with one of the world's largest modeling agency, Ilene Ford and later exclusively with Wilhelmina Modeling Agency for fifteen years where her career took her up and down the runways of Paris, Milan, Rome, London, Buenos Aires, Chicago, New York and Dallas, Texas. She graced major magazine covers, catalogues, national and international ads and represented renowned beauty names such as Revlon, Clairol, L'Oreal and Avon. She enjoyed an illustrious career before becoming Vice-President of the famous Harlem Magicians with her husband, President and former legendary Harlem Globetrotter, Marques Haynes. Her position consisted of managing internal affairs, scheduling and recruiting. From the global and financial success of the Harlem Magicians, their entrepreneurial spirit launched MHG Filtration Systems. This company is a full service and supply company of industrial and commercial heating, ventilation and air conditioning filters, products, heavy equipment, parts accessories and services. This company's success has grown by expanding its capabilities and creating a new spectrum of opportunities with its customers.

MHG Filtrations Systems is realizing one of its strategic goals to be a complete full source, cost efficient supplier, only to be equaled by a knowledgeable, dependable customer service staff and support system.

Her passion is in offering excellence, honesty and integrity to all of her clients and employees.

Her civic and community duties have provided her with additional national and global exposure with her memberships and board positions with such organizations as The International Council of Women of the United Nations, The Nation Council of Women, The National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women Clubs and The Coalition of 100 Black Women.
