

MARK M. SALMAN

Mark Salman has been involved in the baking industry since 1982. He graduated from American University in Beirut, Lebanon, with a degree in Business Administration in 1982.

A fluent speaker of three languages, Salman worked overseas for a chain of bakeries from 1982 to 1986. In 1986, he became the general manager of Uni-Bake, Inc. (a French wholesale bakery in Jersey City, New Jersey). He acquired

La Parisienne Bakery in 1988 when it had annual revenues of $300,000.

Today, La Parisienne, a specialty bread, pastry, and bagel manufacturer, has annual sales of nearly 10 million dollars. The company distributes fresh, parbaked, and frozen goods locally and nationwide to the hospitality industry, retail grocery chains, warehouse clubs, wholesale bakeries, and food distributors.
