Dear CEO Clubs Members, Guests and Families,

I would like to extend a very warm welcome to the CEO Clubs Global Network and encourage you all to honor us with your presence here in Cairo for the launch of the Egypt Chapter of the CEO Clubs.

Let me take this opportunity to thank the founder and creator of the CEO Clubs Global Network, Mr. Joe Mancuso for bringing so many people, families and businesses together from across the global to have fun, make money and learn. His leadership and ingenuity has been an inspiration to over 30,000 members from over 14 countries and over 50 cities worldwide.

Join us this September on what could turn out to be the journey of a lifetime, as you find yourself immersed by the beauty and mystery of this land of ancient builders, kings and scholars. Visit the ancient sites and landmarks, dine at the foot of the great pyramids of Giza, gaze into the eyes of the magnificent Sphinx, sail the Nile as the great Pharos once did, and savor the sounds, smells and tastes of traditions seven millennia old.

As Egypt continues to push forward with a strong economic reform agenda aimed at creating a cohesive business and regulatory environment attractive for both local and global investments, there is no better time than today for you to explore the endless business opportunities now available as a result of such reform policies. I am especially enthusiastic about the potential of the Suez Canal Regional Development project which will afford hundreds of billions of US Dollars in investments and contracting opportunities.

For six days and 5 nights you will have fun, do business and learn all about the true essence of the land of the ancient Gods and Kings.

Everything you need for a brilliant hotel experience is here - from our 1,087 immaculately designed rooms and suites to our 15 onsite restaurants, offering everything from casual Middle Eastern cuisine to fresh sushi. Luxury amenities in each hotel room include whirlpool bathtubs, 42-inch flat-screen TVs, and plush pillow top mattresses.

The original Gezirah Palace was constructed by the Nile on orders from Khedive Ismail. He asked the architects of that time to make it resemble another palace in France, Versailles, where Empress Eugénie used to stay.

The purpose for that palace was to host the French Empress Eugénie who was invited along with her husband the French Emperor Napoleon III. The occasion of that invitation was the opening of the Suez Canal, which was a huge project at that time.

WONDERS OF THE WORLD

Not matter how far you live or where you are from, you must have been introduced to these marvels of history at your school, in cartoons, documentaries, books and movies. Now you can have the chance to see them in all their glory and mystery.

The Great Pyramid of Giza (also known as the Pyramid of Khufu or the Pyramid of Cheops) is the oldest and largest of the three pyramids in the Giza pyramid complex bordering what is now El Giza, Egypt. It is the oldest of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, and the only one to remain largely intact.

Based on a mark in an interior chamber naming the work gang and a reference to fourth dynasty Egyptian Pharaoh Khufu, Egyptologists believe that the pyramid was built as a tomb over a 10 to 20-year period concluding around 2560 BC. Initially at 146.5 meters (481 feet), the Great Pyramid was the tallest man-made structure in the world for more than 3,800 years. Originally, the Great Pyramid was covered by casing stones that formed a smooth outer surface; what is seen today is the underlying core structure.

THE LION MAN

The Sphinx of Giza is a symbol that has represented the essence of Egypt for thousands of years. Even with all of the pictures that we see of the Sphinx, nothing can really prepare you for the time that you finally see the Sphinx with your own eyes. Here's a look at the Sphinx that will give you a hint of what you can expect to see if you visit Egypt.

Carved from the bedrock of the Giza plateau, the Sphinx is truly a mysterious marvel from the days of ancient Egypt. The body of a lion with the head of a king or god, the sphinx has come to symbolize strength and wisdom.

SAILING ACROSS THE STARS

Several Ancient Egyptian solar ships & boat pits were found in Ancient Egyptian sites. The most famous is the Khufu ship now preserved in the Giza Solar boat museum beside the Great pyramid at Giza.

The full-sized ships or boats were buried near Ancient Egyptians' Pyramids or Temples at many sites. The history and function of the ships are not precisely known. They might be of the type known as a "solar barge", a ritual vessel to carry the resurrected king with the sun god Ra across the heavens. However, some ships bear signs of being used in water, and it is possible that these ships were a funerary "barge".

The Khufu ship is an intact full-size vessel from Ancient Egypt that was sealed into a pit in the Giza pyramid complex at the foot of the Great Pyramid of Giza around 2500 BC. It was thus identified as the world's oldest intact ship and has been described as "a masterpiece of woodcraft" that could sail today if put into water. The Khufu ship is one of the oldest, largest, and best-preserved vessels from antiquity. It measures 43.6 m (143 ft) long and 5.9 m (19.5 ft) wide.

THE CENTER OF POWER

The Citadel was fortified by the Ayyubid ruler Salah al-Din (Saladin) between 1176 and 1183 CE, to protect it from the Crusaders. Only a few years after defeating the Fatimid Caliphate, Saladin set out to build a wall that would surround both Cairo and Fustat. Saladin is recorded as saying, "With a wall I will make the two [cities of Cairo and Fustat] into a unique whole, so that one army may defend them both; and I believe it is good to encircle them with a single wall from the bank of the Nile to the bank of the Nile."

The Citadel would be the centerpiece of the wall. Built on a promontory beneath the Muqattam Hills, a setting that made it difficult to attack, the efficacy of the Citadel's location is further demonstrated by the fact that it remained the heart of Egyptian government until the 19th century.

The citadel stopped being the seat of government when Egypt's ruler, Khedive Ismail, moved to his newly built Abdin Palace in the Ismailiya neighborhood in the 1860s. While the Citadel was completed in 1183–1184, the wall Saladin had envisioned was still under construction in 1238, long after his death.

ARCHITECTURAL MARVEL
MOHAMED ALI MOSQUE
RENAISSANCE OF MODERN EGYPT

The great Mosque of Muhammad Ali Pasha or Alabaster Mosque is situated in the Citadel of Cairo in Egypt and commissioned by Muhammad Ali Pasha between 1830 and 1848.

Situated on the summit of the citadel, this Ottoman mosque, the largest to be built in the first half of the 19th century, is, with its animated silhouette and twin minarets, the most visible mosque in Cairo. The mosque was built in memory of Tusun Pasha, Muhammad Ali's oldest son, who died in 1816.

This great mosque, along with the citadel, is one of the landmarks and tourist attractions of Cairo and is one of the first features to be seen when approaching the city from no matter which side. The mosque was built on the site of old Mamluk buildings in Cairo's Citadel between 1830 and 1848, although not completed until the reign of Said Pasha in 1857.

TRAVEL TO THE MIDDLE AGE

One of the greatest markets in Cairo, Khan el Khalili market is one of the more colorful and fun places to spend an evening and stock up on gifts for the family back home.

Today the passing trade largely consists of tour groups and vacationers, however, this market is as historic as any other, a thriving centre of commerce, where merchants and shoppers have bargained, bartered and quibbled over prices since the Middle Ages.

The market spills out from the west of Midan El Hussien, the square that stretches between the two great mosques of Saiyidna Hussein and Al-Azhar. Generally speaking, certain products are restricted to specific areas or streets meaning that the bazaar is actually a collection of highly focused mini bazaars selling perfumes, or spices, or gold, or copper, or textiles.

WHERE KINGS ONCE SAT

El Fishawy is the Grande Dame of Cairo's coffee houses. For over 250 years, it has played host to artists, musicians, students and intellectuals, including – most famously – Nobel laureate Naguib Mahfouz, who wrote parts of his prize-winning Cairo Trilogy in a back room there. Ahmed Rami, who used to write songs for Oum Kalthoum, also frequented the coffee shop. Even King Farouk once sat in one of its narrow halls.

Arguably the most celebrated coffee shop in the Arab world, El Fishawy is only rivalled by Damascus' El Nawfara, and is always lively and overflowing with people. Daytime sees various tourists thirsting for a glimpse of authenticity, while evening melts into locals catching up with friends or simply passing the time.

THE TREASURES OF EGYPT UNDER 1 ROOF

The Egyptian Museum in Cairo contains the world's most extensive collection of pharaonic antiquities; no visit to Egypt is complete without a trip through its galleries. The original collection was established in the late 19th century under Auguste Mariette and housed in Boulaq. The objects were moved in 1891 to the palace of Ismail Pasha in Giza before being transferred in 1902 to the current building at Tahrir Square, which is the first purpose-built museum edifice in the world.

The ground floor takes the visitor on a chronological tour through the collections, while the objects on the upper floor are grouped according to tomb or category; exhibits here include the treasures of Tutankhamun, wooden models of daily life, statuettes of divinities, and a rare group of Faiyum Portraits. On display on the second floor are also many of the New Kingdom royal mummies.

NEW BLENDS – OLD TRADITIONS

PERFECTED THROUGH AGE

FINE EGYPTIAN GRAPES

ANCIENT TRADITIONS

While your packages do not include any alcoholic beverages you can still savor the tastes of one of the country's oldest traditions. Wine making has a long tradition in Egypt which goes back to the 3rd millennium BC.

Today Egypt produces about half a million gallons of wine a year. About half-dozen wines are produced near Alexandria.

The most commonly found are Omar Khayyam (very dry red), Cru des Ptolémées (dry white) and Rubis d'Egypt (rosé). There are currently only three major producers of wine: Gianaclis (which produces all the above-mentioned labels plus Chateau Grand Marquis), Chateau des Rêves (which actually imports grapes from Lebanon) and Obelisk. The two primary varietals under cultivation are Pinot blanc and Cabernet Sauvignon.

Also try one or a few of the many local beers selections.
