

NINA S. TATE

Ms. Nina Tate is Owner and President of Nationwide Construction Co., Inc./NCCI. NCCI is a multimillion dollar firm based in Southern California, operating in California, Arizona and Nevada, specializing in General Building/Engineering, Construction Management, and Reinforcing Steel.

She founded the Los Angeles area firm in 1983 while still employed as VP of Finance for a large national general contracting company.

In 1992, Nina was the first woman contractor appointed to the California State License Board by Governor Pete Wilson and served through 1999. She is also a member of California Apprenticeship Council, Blue Ribbon Committee on Quality Standards, The Committee of 200, Associated General Contractors of California, National Association of Women In Construction, National Association of Women Business Owners, WCOE/Women Construction Owners & Executives, USA, of which she is a founding member and charter president.

She has been the recipient of numerous awards: WCOE, USA “1998 Phoenix Award”; NAWIC “1997 Crystal Achievement Award”; WCOE, California Chapter “1995 Glass Ceiling Award” and “1991 Contractor of the Year”. In 1988 she received the California Governor’s “Outstanding Business Woman of the year” award, and was named by Arthur Young/Venture Magazine as the “Construction Entrepreneur of the Year.”

Nina attended Long Beach City College and the California State University at Long Beach, where she majored in Education, and holds a California Teaching Credential.

Nationwide Construction Co., Inc.
14908 Gwenchris Court, Paramount, CA 90723-1422, 562-220-1120
Fax 562-220-1133 Email corp@ncciinc.com